

SNAKE IN A HAY BALE

Live Serpent Discovered
At Olaa.

CAME FROM MAINLAND

Site of Sugar Company's Offices Is Changed--News of Island of Hawaii.

HILLO, Hawaii, Nov. 29.—The Herald says: O. A. Steven found a live snake in a bale of hay delivered at his place in Olaa yesterday. The reptile measured about three feet in length and about two and one-half inches in diameter. The hay came from the Mainland.

Parties living out of town cannot be too careful in opening bales of hay. The experience of Mr. Steven shows how easily snakes may be introduced into the islands, the climate of which is admirably suited to many varieties. All the children in the country are naturally fearless in walking through the jungles knowing well that there is nothing poisonous, but once snakes get a foothold half the pleasures of life in Hawaii are gone. There are enough harmless pests in the country without adding dangerous ones.

IMPROVEMENTS WANTED.

It is to be hoped that the Hawaiian members of the Legislature from this district will see the necessity for prompt action in the matter of widening Front street. As has been said in these columns, the present condition of the street is a disgrace to the community. When it is considered that five different lines of street exist within three hundred feet it is time something was done. Nowhere, more than on Front street, are sidewalks needed, but they cannot be constructed until a street line is established and arrangements made for the removal of the buildings on the makai side. All this will take money and plenty of it and the responsibility rests upon the Legislature to appropriate. The Herald does not consider the average Hawaiian sufficiently interested in public improvements to take the necessary step; there are citizens here of the same opinion. The Hawaiians who have been elected on the Home Rule or ruin ticket have an opportunity to surprise them.

CANE IN OLAA.

The offices of the Olaa Sugar Co. have been changed from nine miles to the new building opposite Olaa station on the Hilo railway. They comprise four rooms are especially arranged for the convenience of carrying on the work of the company. Manager McStocker expects the mill to be ready to grind about 1,500 acres of Olaa cane and a portion of the cane from Puna Sugar Co. in August next. This will be a test for the mill, after which it will be put in thorough condition for the crop to be ground early in 1902, which will consist of nearly 4,500 acres. Over a mile of the flume trestle from Kaumana to the reservoir at eighteen miles has been built and the boxes will be placed in position as the work progresses.

HIAWATHA ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

The pupils of the Hilo Boys' Boarding school will give an entertainment at Spreckels' hall on Saturday evening next at which Longfellow's "Hiawatha" will be given in costume. Characters will be taken by the pupils.

HILLO DOGS.

When the policemen have nothing else to do a few spare moments spent in taking in the numberless stray dogs that infest the town would be beneficial. That these animals may be taken up only during certain times is a mistake; they are as much a nuisance in January as they are in July and the town can get along very well without them.

ROADS IN HILLO.

There are still numerous complaints relative to the condition of the roads north of Hilo, particularly in the direction of Hamakua. As the independent vote was strong out there perhaps the Legislature will look after them in a manner that will be satisfactory.

HALLIE RIVES MADE ILL BY HARSH CRITICISM.

HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES.

Hallie Erminie Rives, the beautiful young Southern authoress, is seriously ill at her studio in New York. It may be necessary to remove her to a sanitarium. She is suffering from nervous prostration caused by adverse criticism of her recent book, "A Furnace of Earth."

Not since "The Quick and the Dead" by her cousin, Amelia Rives, now the Princess of Troubetzkoy, has a book been handled so sharply by the critics. Two months ago Miss Rives arrived from Europe, where she was the guest of Mrs. James Brown Potter. There she was hailed as a new type of Southerner. Her Virginia cousin is of more robust proportions, but Miss Rives, who comes from the Bluegrass regions of Kentucky, is wan and willowy. She has a complexion paler than the magnolia and a mass of red hair.

The strain of work and the flood of denunciation from many sources have told sadly upon the young author. Miss Rives' attack was hastened, it is said, by a condemnation of her book by Father MacMahon, director of the Cathedral library, who not only ordered the book stricken from the rolls of the institution, but issued a mandate forbidding all Catholics to read it.

In his official condemnation, Father MacMahon said:

"The book is utterly against morals. It belongs to a class which is forbidden on general grounds, as against the ninth commandment. It is on the index de facto. Our moral theology declares that even to read such books is counted as a venial sin."

from a trip through Hamakua on business connected with the Board of Home Missions.

The creditors of the Man Sing Co., Olaa, will realize about 30 per cent on their claims. Ah Wah, the late manager, is in Yokohama with a Japanese employe of the late firm.

Superintendent Lambert of the Hilo Railway Co., has a piece of ohia timber sawed out by the Olaa Sugar Co. and finished in the car shops that compares favorably in appearance with the finer grades of ash.

Miss Sophia Ryerhoff was a passenger to Honolulu by the last Kinau.

J. H. MacDonald and Mr. Mackintosh are visiting at the Shipman residence, Keahou.

RIGGER BADLY HURT.

S. T. Holder Falls From a Height at Kaunakakai, Molokai.

S. T. Holder, who has been in the employ of T. H. Davies & Co., on the defunct American Sugar Plantation at Kaunakakai, Molokai, dismantling the mill, met with a serious accident Saturday morning while rigging a sixty-foot derrick. While unfastening a guy-rope at the top of the mast, the latter, unsupported, gave way and fell with a terrific crash to the ground. Holder's weight gave the pole more than ordinary impetus, and he and the pole came to the ground in a manner which gave fellow workers the impression that Holder had been instantly killed by his terrible fall.

The mast fell upon the unfortunate workman, fracturing his skull and shoulder, while both legs were broken. He was badly mangled, and it is feared that he was injured internally. The Niihau was at the Kaunakakai wharf loading up some of the mill machinery, and Holder was at once taken aboard and the Niihau pulled out for Honolulu. Upon her arrival here Dr. Walter Hoffman was telephoned for and rendered the injured man assistance on the wharf to which he had been removed, before sending him to the hospital. Mrs. Holder accompanied her husband from Niihau, and proved a capable nurse during the five hours' trip of the steamer from Molokai to Honolulu.

HATED TO LOSE.

Makia Tried To Change His Luck With a Six-Shooter.

Makia, a native who sometimes tries a hand at cards to increase his week's wages, is a hard loser. Because the cards were against him and his money was fast dwindling down to a meager pile of nickels and dimes, he began to make trouble. A game of poker had been started in his house and a number of his friends were in.

When he was loser to the tune of $5 Makia made no concealment of his bad temper. Suddenly he arose from the table and went out. His return to the room where the game was going on was as sudden as his exit. His friends were startled when they looked around and found themselves gazing into the gaping muzzle of a loaded six-shooter. Makia demanded a raising of hands and his money. One of the players, Henry Kauwal, yelled "haul in" with all the strength of his lungs. His voice was heard by Policeman Atatani, who rushed in and sizing up the situation, grappled with the would-be highwayman. Makia was game in the fight, and resisted arrest, but Atatani's burly strength overpowered him and he was escorted to the station, where he was charged with being offensively armed and generally violating section 370 of the penal laws.

Those who want a fine quality of liquor for medicinal or home use will find the famous old Jesse Moore Whiskey superior to any other brand.
